Public Speaking To-Night—by Hon. J. W. Moore.

At a late hour yesterday evening, notice was given that Judge Moore, of Mt. Sterling, would speak in the Hall of the House of Representatives, at half past seven o'clock. Prior engagements and the shortness of the notice precluded many from attending who desired to hear the Judge, and it was thought best by his friends that the speaking should be postponed until to-night, at half past seven o'clock. Judge Moore has consented to address the people at that hour, and we bespeak for him a full house. To those who have never had the pleasure of hearing him, we would say that Judge Moore is justly entitled to rank amongst the ablest men and finest orators of the Democratic party, and those who shall favor him with a hearing will be well repaid, not only with an eloquent speech, but with a lucid and forcible presentation of Democratic principles.

Let all, then, turn out to hear him, and do themselves, as well as him, the favor to fill the Hall to its utmost capacity.

Librarian and Treasurer.

We understand that the Committee of Ways and Means of the House of Representatives have decided to report a bill increasing the salary of the State Librarian. We think the bill should pass. The salary now allowed that officer by law is altogether inadequate. It is an office of considerable responsibility, requiring the constant attention of a competent man. The present incumbent has discharged his duties faithfully, and should be well paid for his services. The present salary is only $100 per year, whereas double that sum would not be sufficient to support a small family at the seat of government. The Court of Appeals meet twice a year, and the terms are seventy days each. The Legislature meets once in two years. During these periods the Librarian is constantly engaged in the library rooms, waiting upon lawyers, members of the Legislature, and strangers from the different portions of the State. The legal profession attend more numerous than formerly the sessions of the Court. Were there no other duties connected with the office, the salary is too small. But these services do not comprise one-half of the labor and responsibility of the Librarian. He is made by law the superintendent of the public property at the seat of government, and it is his duty to protect the same from depredation and injury, and to contract for furniture for the capital, state court rooms, and public offices, and Governor's house, and to attend to all the repairs necessary to the public buildings and fences around the same, besides making contracts for the fuel and lights required for the use of the General Assembly, Secretary's office, and the rooms of the Treasurer, Auditor, Register, Librarian, President of the Board of Internal Improvements, and court rooms. Nor are these all his duties. It is manifest from the enumeration here made that $100 per annum, as we have said, is not half enough compensation for the time and labor necessary to execute faithfully so many duties. A man who does them well can find time to attend to nothing else. We can not doubt that the bill to increase the salary will pass without difficulty.

Although we are not an especial advocate for an increase of salaries, still we think all who serve the State should be well paid. The State is abundantly able, and the people are willing to allow public servants a liberal reward for their services. The amount paid for salaries is small in comparison with the other public expenditures.

There is one other salary, which, in our judgment, should be increased—we allude to the salary of the State Treasurer. A very simple statement will show the absolute necessity for its increase. The Treasurer must be a man of experience, of business habits, and of tried fidelity. Ordinarily he is a man of family. At any rate the salary must be laid with a view to the support of a family. The Treasurer has to be constantly in his office, has no clerk or deputy, and must do all the work connected with his office. He is required to give bond with good security in the penalty of three hundred thousand dollars, and receives and pays out all the revenues of the State, now amounting to about a million of dollars annually. The office is second to none in importance in the State, and its labor and responsibility are great. The salary now allowed by law to the treasurer is by far too small. Generosity would prompt its increase, but justice requires it, as well as the best interests of the State.

We learn from Lexington that Messrs. Chapman & Drake are playing their company in that city to large audiences. They opened on Monday night with Mrs. Julia Dean Hayne, who, of course, will attract large crowds wherever she goes.

Mr. Drake assures us that he will certainly re-open the Theater here on next Monday night, with Mrs. Hayne, who will appear in a round of her finest characters. Our theatergoers may confidently rely upon being well entertained during the balance of the season.

DEATH OF MACAULAY.—Lord Macaulay, better known as Macaulay, the "Historian," died last month, in England.

Dr. H. J. Breckinridge's Letter.

It is no new thing for this gentleman to write the most able and eloquent appeal upon any subject that he may think of sufficient importance to engage his powers, and when he turns aside from those sublime subjects to which he has dedicated his mind and his life, to contemporary politics—it is like the falcon's swoop, he goes to the very heart of the matter and lays bare the vital question with a power of analysis not surpassed by the philosopher of Chelsea himself. All remember those admirable letters to Sumner and Seward, which left not a vestige of the structure which those men had so carefully raised upon which to elevate themselves to the Presidency; and they furnished arrows, as from an inexhaustible quiver, with which their opponents were enabled to vanquish them. So unanswerable were they that it was pitiable to witness the miserable struggles of the only one who attempted a reply; and when the second letter was aimed at him, he was felled as from a giant's blow, and has forever remained dumb.

The present letter to the Vice President abounds in admirable logic, nor is it to be gainsaid, if you grant his premises; but this is precisely the fulcrum we think he has mistaken—his lever is as powerful as that of Archimedes, but the spot of earth upon which he has planted it, is that point-to-point that has no existence out of his own imagination. It may be an extreme tenacity that emboldens us to break a lance with so renowned a champion, but it behooves those who are acting with the Democratic party and are hoping all for the country from the success of its principles, to question well any who would assail their strongholds; we must guard as well our foundations from those who would spring a mine as well as repel those who attempt the ramparts by escalade. If we do not deny that the Democratic party is entertaining a thought of a dissolution of the Union, or that any considerable portion of them, in any State, contemplates a secession from the Union as a practical remedy for existing evils, we commit ourselves to the current of the Rev. Dr.'s reasoning that will carry us beyond "plummit's sounding." The Democratic party is founded upon the idea of nationality, and when it contemplates a destruction of that nationality, it sweeps away the very foundation upon which the existence of the party is planted; it loses the merit that has drawn thousands of good men to its standard, and is disintegrated ipso facto, and not distinguishable from the factions that are warring upon the vitals of this great country.

Having withdrawn ourselves and our party from any liability to a charge of advocating even in a remote contingency a dissolution of the Union, we can at this safe distance, contemplate with satisfaction, the discomfort with which he overwhelms our opponents. Besides charging and proving that the Republican party, is based upon the old Abolition party, he shows that it is necessarily ephemeral, and must dissolve on the disbanding of a delusion; that although it has ascended and culminated like a rocket, it will soon descend like a stick; he shows conclusively, to our mind, that it has not one element of perpetuity, and although it may have a success even to the possession of the general government, this is the very verge from which it must precipitate itself into an irreparable ruin. This is all shown, with such graphic power, that it most greatly weakens the hands of the Republicans; and it is a castigation that the accomplished sophists about Boston will readily appreciate; it is in their own style, for they have so long dealt in "theosophic moonshine" that they will not entertain a proposition if it does not come in the form of hypothosis, and they will take any of these, from the Platonisms vagaries of Emerson to John Plummer. This letter will hardly suit the latitude of Washington, for its irony is too subtle, and its scriptural phraseology too classical, for those who regard Greeley as a philosopher and Seward as a Solon. The withering rebuke he administers to the Opposition party of Kentucky, which has attempted to make a slave code for the territories an issue, is one of the happiest things in the production, and is well-timed, for we shall hear no more of Mr. Burman's amendment, and very little more from Mr. Bell on that subject.

The objectionable feature, if the reverend gentleman will excuse so harsh an expression towards anything proceeding from such a quarter, is the effort to weaken the reverence of the American people for the Supreme Court of the United States; it is, to say the least of it, highly injudicious, coming from a gentleman of his cloth. If our people do not recognize that "the powers that be are ordained of God"; if Congress has forfeited the respect of the country, and the executive is brought into contempt, there is still a feeling of honor and reverence for that Court which all the efforts of demagogues have not succeeded in ridiculing; the efforts in that direction of the Republican leaders did more to cause a distrust in the minds of the people of them than any other of the incendiary doctrines they promulgated. We hold reverence to be the one divine attribute remaining to our people, and this seems all concentrated upon the Supreme Court, and when this shall be destroyed, what shall prevent them from overthrowing a government, every branch of which has ceased to command their respect? It will become one whose business and exalted profession it is to cultivate reverence in the human breast, to attempt to weaken it in (what appears to him, by comparison, may be so insignificant) a coordinate branch of the government, and that very branch which appears to have retained all the respect that should be extended to the whole. The very Justice, who, "with fair, round belly," administers the law at his own fireside, has a "reverence done him" not conceded to another; and so on up through the various gradations, till it culminates in an almost reverential awe before the Supreme Bench;

POCKET PICKING.—We regret to announce a case of great depravity—a parallel to which does not at the moment occur to us. Last evening Mr. D. Kirk's pocket watch, or, rather, receptacle for a timekeeper, was relieved of its valuable watch, which was recently presented to him by the Opposition at Frankfort—for what reason we are not informed. It was a regular Peter Pan's watch, weighed about a pound, and had an extraordinary beautiful case, engraved with a coat of arms out at the elbows of the recipient. We trust that our friend will recover the valuable memento.—Low Den.

17 MASON COUNTY LAND SALE.—Mr. Mitchell Miller sold his beautiful home-estate farm a few days since, to Mr. William Mitchell, for one hundred dollars per acre, cash. The estate covered the village of Maysick, and embraced about 125 acres.—Mays.

LARGE PROPORTION OF FEMALES AMONG THE DEAD AT LAWRENCE.—Of the fifty-five dead bodies recovered from the ruins of the Pemberton Mills at Lawrence up to yesterday afternoon, forty-one are females; of the forty-four missing, twenty-eight are females; of the seventy-eight recently wounded, fifty-two are females; and they also figure largely in the list of slightly wounded. The larger portion were young girls of Irish descent.—Boston Journal.

and yet we are told this almost glorified head has no sacredness. Neither do we believe it, nor do we entertain the thought, and heaven preserve the people from entertaining it likewise, for whenever they shall come to consider this fountain of justice and security—this final arbiter of the rights of citizens, to be purchasable, or influenced by the ordinary passions of "meaner men," they will cease to have any regard or reverence for Constitutions, laws, or other institutions of human society. We are not ashamed to confess our love and reverence for this high tribunal, and we will "anoint the sacrilegious hand" that assails it, be it from high or low, although we may feel, as we do now, that our puny efforts scarcely weaken the assault. Those men who occupy that position are clothed with an ermine, as an emblem of purity; and so far, we verily believe, it has remained without spot and without blemish; and although human nature may not pretend to infallibility, we class their judgments and decisions in the same category with the Reverend gentleman's Articles of Faith.

Ladies' Fair.

It is with great pleasure we call attention to the Fair, under the superintendence of the Methodist Church, at Odd Fellows' Hall, on to-morrow (Thursday) evening. Amid the various entertainments that have engrossed public attention during the present week, we hope this one will not be forgotten. Sometime since, the church building was entirely destroyed by fire, and with commendable energy the congregation erected a new one, and the proceeds of this Fair are to enable them to liquidate a debt thereby incurred. We solicit, on behalf of the ladies, a handsome return for their efforts to accomplish this laudable object. Our community, and strangers visiting our city, enjoy greatly the amusements, purely secular in their aim, which we offer; and we ask them now to remember the Church, and respond with a liberal hand to the call in question.

Go, one and all—go with full purses, smiling faces, and open hearts, for you go in a good cause, and spend your time and money most laudably. The tables will be loaded with all the delicacies and substantial an epicure could desire; and adorned, as the occasion will be by the bright countenances of the fairest part of creation, it will repay you to look in upon the scene. Our Frankfort ladies know how to get up such things, and therefore we say, go, and you will not be disappointed.

APPOINTMENT BY THE GOVERNOR.—William B. Lannom, the popular and talented Representative from Hickman and Fulton, has been appointed Aid to the Governor, with the rank of Colonel.

WE are pleased to learn that Hon. Mr. Wickliffe, who was seriously injured recently at New Haven, is progressing to recovery, under the careful nursing of his friends.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Various private conferences took place on Friday among gentlemen representing different parties with a view of agreeing on a basis for the election of a Speaker; but, as heretofore, without a favorable result. Several of the members availed themselves of the opportunity to offer a proposition of a practical character for that purpose. Among them, Mr. Sickles, whose resolution provides, that the House now proceed to the election of a Speaker via voice, and if upon the first call of the roll no one shall have a majority, a quorum being present, then from those having the highest number of the candidates not exceeding three, the House will proceed to elect a Speaker, and if neither has a majority, then from the two highest the House will make a choice of Speaker. And also, if upon the third vote the said two persons shall receive an equal number, the House will continue to vote for one or the other of the same two persons until one of them shall receive a majority; and that, pending the election and until a choice be made, the roll shall be called by lot.

The most that is claimed for this proposition is that it is in accordance with the constitution and mode of electing a President by the House in the event of a failure by the people to do so, and the mode by which the Senate chooses the Vice President in the same contingency. The Senate, in executive session, has confirmed the nomination of Mr. Faulkner as Minister to France. No action was taken on the motion to reconsider the vote by which Mr. Grant was rejected as Consul to Havre. They consider the case to be without remedy. Hon. John Cochrane, though slowly recovering, is still confined to his residence by a painful illness.

DAMAGE BY THE FLOOD AT PITTSBURG.—A special dispatch, dated at Pittsburg on Sunday evening, to the Cincinnati Commercial, says: River seventeen feet and rising. The Monongahela commenced running on this morning. The ice did great damage from the first dawn to the point. Some fifty rail boats were swept away. The bottoms or wrecks of thirty boats were carried and the floating fleet. Among them Fairbank fifteen coal boats. The hulls of the dismantled steamers Gazel and Endeavor were lost. Four new barges lost. The Hope Coal Company lost six half-ton barges. The Lyons Company lost one hundred and thirty barges. The Kentucky Black Hawk was swept away. O'Connor & Co. lost a number of boats. Riddle, Coleman & Co. lost one pair of loaded boats. It is impossible to estimate the damage. It is certainly very large.
